

Special Guest Gina Bean

Gina Bean was born and raised in Mississippi where she began singing around the age of three. She always had a variety of musical influences in her life, including gospel, blues, country, and jazz. At age eighteen, she was presented with an opportunity to sing country music and sign with a well known record label. After much prayer and no peace, she realized this was not God's plan for her life. She declined the offer, and one year later began dating Larry, the love of her life. It then became clear what their calling would be together.

She is a singer and songwriter who currently has released four albums. She wrote the song Just One Touch, which was recorded in 2005 by southern gospel artists Karen Peck and New River on their Good to be Free album. Just One Touch climbed the charts and held the number one spot for several weeks.

Gina has made guest appearances on several Christian television networks, including Trinity Broadcasting Network, Daystar, Sky Angel, Inspiration, and Christian Television Network.

Both Larry and Gina grew up as children of pastors, where they learned about the Lord and were exposed to the anointing of God at an early age. Still today, they are faithful servants of Christ and remain in His presence by spending time in prayer, fasting, worship, and Bible study. They know that fervent and persistent prayer is a key to successful evangelism. Their love for the Lord is evident through their music and ministry.

Larry and Gina have been married to each other and in full time music ministry for the past fifteen years.

From 1996-2001, Larry and Gina served as music pastors at the Forest Hill Church of God in Mobile, Alabama. Most recently, they served as Ministers of Music at the North Cleveland Church of God for seven and a half years. This remains their home church as they step out under the covering and with the blessing of their senior pastor, Mitch Maloney.

Gina has a great anointing to sing and speak. In recent years, God has given her a burden for girls of all ages. She wants to help them love and see themselves as God does.
